SUPPLEMENT

1. At the Freiberg Bergakademie the physics, metallurgical, and electro-technical departments were the first departments to be dismantled. The next departments to be dismantled will be those concerned with mineralogy, mining, and iron smelting processes.
2. In Karlshorst a special Russian staff has been established to serve as a liaison group between the Academy and the highest SMA authority. Responsibility for work done at the Freiberg Mining Academy, however, is divided between the Ministry for Iron and Steel and Non-Ferrous Metals in Potsdam and the Ministry for the Armament Industry in Erfurt.
3. Armament research work is under the direction of Russian Professor Ossonoie in the Mining Academy and Russian Professor Efimoff in the iron works department.
